"RICHMOND NOTES." Mr Henry R. Tracy, of the Boston Herald, who accompanied the De Molays on their late visit to Richmond publishes the following article, under the above head in the "Her ald" of Friday last:

"The late visit of the Knights Templar of Boston and Providence to Richmond has been productive of much information in regard to the last named city, to the visiting strangers. The beauty of the locality and surrounding scenery filled every one with admiration. When art has made all the improvements desirable upon nature in the city and suburbs, it will be one of the most beautiful towns in the world. Shockoe Hill abounds in beautiful residences, the abodes of men of wealth and refinement, surrounded with flowers, shrubbery and trees, and adorned with every thing necessary to render them delightful homes. The air of Richmond is eminently salubrious and healthy. During the epidemic at Norfolk not a case of yellow fever existed in Richmond, except those brought from the former place, among which were several physicians who had gone down there and devoted their lives, heroically, to the cause of humanity in the infected district. There is hardly a healther town in the States than is Richmond.

It is a very orderly city. With a popula-tion of forty thousand, twelve thousand of whom are slaves andtwenty-five hundred are free pegroes, they have only four day policemen and twenty-four night watchmen. Duing our visit, we saw no brawling or drunkenness. Everybody seems to attend to his own affairs most religiously, and we learned that large fortunes and much happiness have been gained there by men who have minded their own business devoutly. As it is a part of the business of the citizens to entertain strangers within their gates, we found some of them forsaking their ordinary avocations to minister to the comfort of their eastern friends and vindicate the fame of Virginia for her hospitality. But no man there interferes with his neighbor.

The slaves seemed to be the freest laboring population one can find any where.-Slavery in general, in Richmond, is a "Virginia abstraction." Practically the slaves are free. In the great tobacco manufactories, where hundreds are employed, we were surprised by the alacrity, energy and skill of their manipulations of the fragrant weed.— Standing at the rows of benches, or along the ranges of iron presses their fingers flew with lightning rapidity, and occasionally they broke out in a song and chorus which was good to hear. These hands choose their own boarding places, their clothes and board are paid for by the master, and for all their labor beyond the daily allotted task, they receive cash every Saturday night. Their own earnings amount to from fifty cents to a dollar per day, each; and as they have no future wants to provide for, the money is usually spent in ornaments or luxuries each week during Saturday night and Sunday .-On the Sabbath they gather a congregation of four thousand in the large African church, where they appear in fine clothes and listen to the stated preaching of the gospel. The singing by a numerous native choir at the African church, is one of the things that the Richmonders boast of, and many regrets were expressed that we could not remain and listen to it on the Sabbath. The principal operator in the delivery department of one of the leading journals in Richmond is a slave, owned by the proprietor of the paper, who only requires him to perform that service each morning. He is a very intelligent fellow, and we found he had invented a new method of mailing papers which is a decided improvement. This slave earns a good deal of money for himself, as he is a famous knight of the toddy stick and is to be seen daily in the bar of the Ballard House, concocting mint-juleps for the thirsty ones .juleps as did ever one of his Roman namesakes with war-like weapons. The horse is deemed in Virginia too noble an animal to be driven by negroes, in teams and drays, and mules are almost universally used for hard work. The truth is that the negro is too tyrannical, too cruel an oppressor to anything placed in his power to be entrusted with a horse team. The mule is tough and can bear beating, and therefore all the teaming in Richmond is done with mules. The huge tobacco hogsheads are drawn from the country to the warehouses by teams of four mules each, with a negro driver mounted on the near wheeler. The black postilion glories in the possession of a large whip, which cracks loud and cuts deep, and he probably imagines that he is avenging himself for all the "thirty lashes save nine" which his own race have received, by giving his mules occasionally a baiting of "long oats." Both the negroes and the mules appear to work patiently and industriously, and the former are certainly a happy class in Richmond."

WHY DON'T YOU LEARN A TRADE. This question was propounded in our hearing a few days since, to a young man who had been for several months unsuccessfully seoking employment as a clerk or salesman in some of our leading houses. Complaining of his ill luck, one of his friends who knew he had a mechanical talent, but doubted whether he could make himself useful either as a clerk or salesman, put the interrogatory to him which we have placed at the head of this article. The reply was-not so respectable as a mercantile occupation!!! Under this delusive idea, our stores are crowded with young men who have no capacity for the business, and who, because of the fancied respectability of doing nothing, waste away their minority upon salaries which cannot possibly liquidate their expenditures. Late, too late in life, they discover their error, and before they reach the age of thirty, many of them look with envy upon the thrifty mechanic, whom in the days of their boyhood, they were accustomed to deride.-The false respectability which prevails in the soidisant fashionable society of the present day, has ruined thousands of young men, and will ruin thousands more.

REAT BARGAINS FOR CASH .- The great question is now settled in one way or the other as to the election in Virginia, and I would respectfully call the attention of every body to my still large stock of MUSIC, MUSICAL INSTRU-MENTS, BOOKS, STATIONERY, and variety goods, which I am disposed to sell at great bar-gains for cash during the dull and hot season just about to set in. SOMBRERO GUANO.

IN calling the attention of the public to this val-uable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other phosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bone phosphate of lime; and that its mercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be easily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, therephosphate of lime it contains. In order, there phosphate of lime it contains. In order, there of the public a thorough knowledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the following list of eminent chemists in the refer to the themselves from the cargoes just as they arrive from the island, without drying or selection of specimens for analyzation.
